I am a very cheerful and outgoing person. I enjoy being active and playing sports, and I love doing things outdoors, whether it's hiking, walking, or other activities. I also enjoy going out with friends and spending quality time with my family, as I value these connections a lot. I like traveling, discovering new places, and meeting new people.

This summer, I will be working at a summer camp in Pennsylvania as a lifeguard, which I am very excited about because it will allow me to meet new people, be active, and gain new experiences. I am enthusiastic, friendly, and enjoy being part of a team, which makes me love participating in group activities and making the most of new opportunities.

How would you present your country's language and culture? *

i As an Amity Intern, you will serve as an informal ambassador for your home country.

I would present Spanish language and culture in a fun and interactive way. I would teach students basic Spanish vocabulary and expressions through games, songs, and daily activities to make learning enjoyable. I would also share aspects of Spanish culture, such as our traditional food, music, dances, festivals, and family life, to give students a real sense of how people live in Spain. I enjoy connecting with others and sharing experiences, so I would create activities that encourage students to participate and ask questions, helping them understand and appreciate the richness of my culture.

Describe any related work experience. *

i E.g., internships, jobs, volunteering, etc.

I am a sweet, fun, and responsible person who loves being active and working with children. I have gained experience through various volunteer and work activities, including taking care of puppies at an animal shelter, teaching memory exercises to elderly people with the Red Cross, working as a skating instructor for young children, and leading activities as a Leisure and Free-Time Activities Instructor. I have also worked at Bierzo Natura, organizing activities for children such as face painting, ice skating supervision, games with inflatables, and animation. These experiences have helped me develop teamwork, leadership, and communication skills, and I enjoy creating a fun, safe, and engaging environment where children can learn, play, and enjoy themselves.

Tell us more about your career goals and professional plans for the future. *

 *Related to education only.

I have always wanted to be a teacher, and my career goal is to become a secondary school teacher, combining my background in Economics with my passion for teaching and working with young people. I plan to continue gaining practical experience with children and adolescents, developing my skills in education, communication, and leadership. Participating in the Amity Intern Program will help me a lot in achieving this goal, as it will allow me to improve my English and intercultural skills, learn new teaching methods, and gain international experience that will make me a more effective and inspiring teacher in the future.

I believe I can bring enthusiasm, energy, and creativity to an American classroom. I am friendly, responsible, and enjoy working with children, which helps create a positive and engaging learning environment. I can contribute by introducing students to Spanish language and culture through fun activities, games, and interactive lessons. I also enjoy teamwork and collaborating with others, so I can help organize group activities and projects. My experience as a skating instructor, leisure activities monitor, and volunteer has taught me how to lead activities, support students, and make learning enjoyable, and I am excited to share these skills with the classroom.

At an international school festival, what kind of activities could you plan and how would you involve your students?

At an international school festival, I would plan fun and interactive activities to involve all students and help them learn about Spanish language and culture. For example, I could organize Spanish games, traditional dances, music, and arts and crafts. I could also create food tasting stations with typical Spanish snacks or teach simple Spanish phrases through fun activities and competitions. I would involve students by encouraging teamwork, participation, and creativity, making sure everyone has a role and feels included. My experience as a Leisure and Free-Time Activities Instructor and volunteer has taught me how to engage students, keep activities safe and enjoyable, and make learning interactive, so I would apply these skills to ensure the festival is fun, educational, and memorable for everyone.

What would it mean to you to live with a host family and how will you express your gratitude? *

- ❗ Host families are not compensated and generously volunteer their time and financial resources.

Living with a host family would be an amazing opportunity for me to feel like part of a family and create a close, caring, and fun relationship. I would love to spend time together, do activities as a family, and share experiences, learning from each other every day. I am excited to learn about American culture, traditions, and values, and to explore the beautiful country with them. I would show my gratitude by being respectful, responsible, and helpful, always participating actively in family life, helping with chores, and showing appreciation through small gestures. I hope we can become like a new extended family, building lasting memories together while enjoying every moment of this unique experience.

How will you adjust to your host family's different customs and food? *

I am open-minded and flexible, and I understand that living with a host family means experiencing different customs and ways of life. I am excited to try new foods, participate in family traditions, and learn about their daily routines. Healthy food is very important to me, so I hope to enjoy meals that are balanced and nutritious, while also being open to trying new dishes and flavors. I will adjust by being respectful, patient, and curious, asking questions when appropriate, and showing appreciation for their culture and hospitality. I see this as a wonderful opportunity to grow, learn, and share experiences, and I am confident that I will adapt quickly while enjoying everything the family has to offer.
